

Response to request from the Commission on February 4, 2016:

Choose Energy was mistaken when writing, in our original filing on October 26, 2015, that among the states in which we are presently selling electric supply service we included "Delaware (commercial electric only)."

Choose Energy is not presently serving customers in Delaware, neither residential nor commercial, and has never served customers in Delaware in the past. We have plans to serve both residential and commercial customers in Delaware in the future after we receive our approval from the Commission.
